— Lights out London —

Eleven years of noise & and no plans to turn the volume down!

Lights Out London was released on February 25 2011 as the fourth studio album, this time on the band's own label called Findaway Records. 12 songs that shows why Itchy Poopzkid are established in the first league of German Punk Rock. Hardly any other band has toured, sweated, worked, fascinated that much and with that impressed thousands of people. With Lights out London the guys have everything under their own control now, which fits them even better.

Lights out London jumped right away on number 35 of the German album-charts – which is the best chart position yet!!

The new euphoria can be literally heard on the new record. The live-recorded album shows all the fun they have playing which thrills the old fans as well as the new ones. Lights out London is definitely the most rocking and most intense record in the band's history with clutching earwigs and lyrics that are range between deep and cynical which will convince even the last critics.

In 2011 Itchy Poopzkid went out on two long tours in spring and fall and played many of the biggest Open Air Festivals in Germany, Austria and Switzerland

After way more than 600 shows, three successful albums, one MTV-Music-Award-nomination and dozens of tours over Germany as well as the UK, Ireland and Sweden, Sibbi, Panzer and Max are ready for new challenges.

This year Max, Sibbi & Panzer will mainly focus on writing and recording new songs for their upcoming release scheduled for 2013. Still they will play some exclusive shows and Festivals.

In February Itchy Poopzkid return to the UK for the second time before they team up with US-Rockers Zebrahead for a double-headlining tour through Germany in March. Both bands not only love being on stage and tearing down every the club they play but are also longtime friends since they first toured together in 2006.

Itchy Poopzkid & Zebrahead at one show – Can it get any better?

Sonar Sucks – Fighting underwater noise!

The opening song „Why Still Bother“ from the latest Itchy Poopzkid Album, which the band has written for the Whale and Dolphin Conservation Society WDCS created a big buzz. In 2010 Itchy Poopzkid started to join forces with the WDCS and created a new campaign called “Sonar Sucks” fighting against underwater noise caused by military and oil industry. The shocking music video, many online campaigns and a big guerilla show in front of BP-Headquarters left their mark. For the first time ever BP officials were willing to talk to the NGO in London. Still a long way to go, but they got the ball rolling.
